

Description of Graphic on UDL Webpage

The following is a description of the UDL Guidelines graphic on the UDL landing page.

The dark teal column, from top to bottom, states:

Affective Networks

The “why” of learning

Multiple Means of Engagement

- Provide options for recruiting interest
- Provide options for sustaining effort and persistence
- Provide options for self-regulation

The medium teal column, from top to bottom, states:

Recognition Networks

The “what” of learning

Multiple Means of Representation

- Provide options for perception
- Provide options for language, math and symbols
- Provide options for comprehension

The lightest teal column, from top to bottom, states:

Strategic Networks

The “how” of learning

Multiple Means of Action and Expression

- Provide options for physical action
- Provide options for expression and communication
- Provide options for executive functions

Darla Benton Kearney is the Universal Design for Learning Curriculum Consultant in the Center for Teaching & Learning. Please feel free to connect with her at darla.benton@mohawkcollege.ca or extension 3688.