

Cameron Redsell-Montgomerie is a Professor in the Department of Mathematics and Statistics at Mohawk College. He teaches in to multiple programs including Digital Health, Cardiovascular Technology, numerous Engineering programs. Using statistics, technology, and bowties, he aims to explore topics to bring long lasting and deep understanding to others. Follow his exploration at cStudio.