General Description of Duties:

Part-time Piano Teacher The Oakville School of Music and Performing Arts (OSMPA) is a full-year academic program, September to June, offering music lessons to children from 2 years to adulthood. Students at the OSMPA have the option to study in a private lesson or group setting, depending on their age and playing level. The OSMPA encourages students to take part in the Royal Conservatory of Music Examinations, as well as music festivals including: Rotary Burlington Music Festival and the Peel Music Festival. Students at the OSMPA also take part in a number of community events performing at the Oakville Trafalgar Memorial Hospital, the Oakville Bronte Tree Lighting Ceremonies, Oakville Half-Marathons, and the Glen Abbey Golf Tournaments. Teachers also prepare students for two in-school concerts. Teachers work one-on-one with each student to design a plan aimed to enhance each students' success over the long-term in music.

The role as a teacher at the OSMPA align with the goals of each student and our school community. These roles include, but are not limited to, the following accountabilities:

Student Planning: Develop a student-g geared action plan to facilitate a year of growth and musical development for each student.

Performance: Prepare students for upcoming Royal Conservatory of Music exams, recitals, and community performances and take part in these performances with fellow teachers.

Student Support: Prepare and encourage students to take part in community events with fellow teachers to generate student growth and a community environment within the school.

Relationship Management: Maintain a high standard of communication between students and parents to provide a high quality student experience.

Policy Management: Ensure all policies, procedures and required documents are adhered to and comprehensively completed by each student and family.

Talent Management: Provide guidance and assistance to other teachers and team members.

Skills and Experience Required:

Required: Completion of the Royal Conservatory of Music or equivalent Desirable: Undergraduate and/or Masters Degree in Music or related discipline
