

Centre for Indigenous Relations,
Knowledge & Learning's

Indigenous Knowledge and Learning Outcomes (IKLOs)

These learning outcomes were developed in consultation with community members at Six Nations, Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation, urban Indigenous communities in Hamilton, and Indigenous employees and students at Mohawk College. Our goal is that every learner will leave the school with some knowledge of Indigenous communities, histories, contemporary realities and worldviews.

1. Explore and reflect on the contributions of Indigenous Peoples to the world.
2. Demonstrate the importance of Indigenous relationships with the Land, Creation, agreements and treaties between Indigenous and non-Indigenous communities.
3. Apply principles and practices of Indigenous Knowledge to career field.
4. Explore, appreciate and understand Indigenous Peoples' histories, worldviews, cultures, creativity and ways of knowing and being.
5. Analyze and reflect on structures of privilege and the impact on Indigenous Communities.
6. Create personal and systemic commitments for Reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples.
7. Design and demonstrate solutions for present-day realities informed by Indigenous concepts of relationships and sustainability.